Please share any lingering questions or concerns:

I feel a downtown school is vital to a vibrant downtown. And I feel that while we are in a downtrend we will see greater growth in our metro west towns especially for housing near commuter rails.

Looking to gain a timeline for this process

None

I would like to know if redistributing is being considered or is it too early in the process

Was there a reason the town census wasn't used as it's more recent?

Will the kids who are in school now finish up the year before the closing?

How can we rely on the preschool projected numbers when they do not include private preschools

Were the trends of the last enrollment forecast study, done about 10 years ago, compared to the trends in this study? They seem to both indicate a 7 year cycle.

If you aren't closing DT, will you renovate your bring up to code??

What is the earliest phase 2 could occur? Next school year? Or beyond?

Will redistributing impact ALL schools? Or just DT

Great job!

Tonight was helpful to listen to, even after reading the report. I'm curious about how stage 1 phase 2 will be managed. How will staff, students and families be chosen to speak? What will be the forum?

What did you like about tonight's session? What should we continue to do as we work to involve the community?

Good engagement start

Great job!

Graphs were helpful.

Lots of information, glad that we are involved

Very informative. I think these type of open discussion will be valuable in making smart knowledgeable data driven decisions.

For community involvement: maybe consider hosting info nights at local private preschools for parents of rising K students? Or advertising at all the local private preschools for your next info session.

Thank you all for your honesty and work on these presentations. It is greatly appreciated!

I like the format of these community session. Very well administered and thank you both for your time. It would be helpful if you shared the answers to some of the questions that were submitted and needed to be answered at a later date.
