Heads Up....

Snapchat

- Google+
- Circles
- Hangouts

- Snapchat is a photo-sharing application released for the iPod Touch, iPhone and iPad. Snapchat is an app that allows users to take a photo and share it with someone for up to 10 seconds. When the allotted time is up, the photo is permanently deleted. The person receiving the photo does have the option to take a screenshot of the photo, but if they do the sender is notified.
- The privacy policy for Snapchat states that they “cannot guarantee that the message data will be deleted in every case” and “Messages, therefore are sent at the risk of the user”. What kids don’t know is that, theoretically, if a you were to send an inappropriate photo through Snapchat, the image could be floating around on their servers even after the photo has been deleted from the recipient’s phone.
- If you have a Gmail account you have instant access to Google plus once it is downloaded on your computer. It is also a free app. Google+ is a place where you can create circles where you can group friends and other contacts. In the hang-out feature, up to 10 people can have a video chat.
